Hanscolm was exposed to the intense cold for several hours and when he was first picked up it was fearedthat he was frozen to death. The man was in an intoxicated condition. and this accounts for his misfortune.

PREVENTING EPIDEMICS

Proper and systematic medical inspection of schools will prevent the development of epidemics of scarlet fever and diphtheria. A child with a mild case of either of the diseases mentioned may attend school for several days and innocently spread the infection to scores of its schoolmates. In such cases the investigation that seeks to discover the cause of the outbreak has been started too late to be of much practical value. It is prevention that counts.

NEEDFUL KNOWLEDGE

Rhinelander People Should Learn to Detect the Approach of Kidney Disease.

The symptoms of kidney trouble are so unmistakable that they leave no ground for doubt. Sick kidners excrete a thick, cloudy, offensive urine, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding. The back aches constantly, headaches and dizzy spells may occur and the victim is often weighed down by a feeling of languor and fatigue. Neglect these warnings and there is danger of dropsy, Bright's Disease, or diabetes. Any one of these symptoms is warning enough to begin treating the kidneys at once. Delay often proves fatal.

You can use no better remedy than Donn's Kidney Pills. Here's Rhinelander's proof:

Mrs. Alex Denoyer, of 723 Dorr Ave., Rhinejander, Wis., says: "My son was troubled by weak kidneys for ten years. He was at times, laid up for days and I could not get a remedy that would give him relief. Finally I had the good fortune to learn of Doan's Kidney Pills and procured are the governors of the people who them at Reardon's drug store. They must eat that bread. ### WINFIELD CAYLORD TALKS ON SOCIALISM

Misery From An Upset Stomach Van- Well Known Social Democratic Senator Addresses Fair Audience at Armory Saturday Evening.

> A fair sized audience gathered at the Armory, Saturday evening, to listen to the speech by Senator Winfield R. Gaylord, of Milwaukee. Mr. Gaylord is one of the most prominent and active social democrats in the state. He spoke on socialism, selecting as his subject "Tools and the Man." A portion of the lecture follows:

> . Tell me what you eat and I'll tell you what you are" will do for a breakfast food advertisement. But when I say, "Tell me what tools you use and I'll tell you what you eat, what clothing you wear and also the forms of your family, religious and political life." I have given you a key to history which will unlock doors on the past not open to any other key.

Note the development of the tool, the first tools were the fists, the firgers and finger nails, the arms and teeth of a man, and the food of this man? Ilaw fruits, roots and nuts, with eggs and birds, and the young of other animals fetched from nests and lairs of birds and beasts.

But a smooth stone could strike a harder blow and not feel the hurt. Sharp flints and bone would last longer than finger nalls and teeth and a twisted bough made into a club would reach farther and strike harder than the simple arm or fist, and these brought better foods, skins of animals for covering, and safety on the grounnd.

The metal tool proves knowledge of fire and its mastery, the first and greatest of inventions, and from the metal cutting edge, but by what slow process no man now can know; then slowly grew the marvelous equipment of tool and machine which man uses

But all of them, railway and steamboat, telegraph and traphammer, saw mill and harvester factory, all are but the longer arm, the harder fist, the sharper and more enduring nail and tooth of the man or men who use them.

They are useless without the man with whose life they have grown, and for whose life they furnish substance more abundantly.

And with the growth of the machine there was a growth of the man each new machine made psosible a new "Edition of Mankind" individually. The muscle and brain, the purpose and will of the tool using man has become different from those of the simple tooled savage and socially, the possibilities of social life only began to open up when the larger certainty of food supply reduced the antagonism of the original "Individualist" and made possible-and therefore safefor more than one man to dwell within the space of ten square miles.

With social life there came social labor and with social labor the social tool, and with the social tool a new civilization.

But now, tell me who controls the tools that the men must use to get their bread, and I will tell you who savage who can the forest, you must needs put chains light and air to those prevailing in upon his wrists, he is the true indi- outdoor life. vidualist. The journeyman mechan-New York, sole agents for the United ic, can be controlled by taking his States. for his hand fits the tools just as the tools fits his hands.

Today, civilization depends not updles, for the tools has been dehandled. It is fastened to shafting, pulleys and belts, it is the tool of society, complex and manifold, it requires an army to use it and its operation is a social process, its product is the life blood of a nation: its use require the steady heart beat of a continent of humanity.

For one man to control this tool of society—the machine—for one man to start and stop it at his own free will, to allow one man to say to a nation at giving to a parasitic insect power to whom it crawls.

whose writings appear under an as-

In his work on the Donnerstags,

Coniff intends to give a complete story of the career of the brothers

during their residence in this county and will dwell for some length on their counterfelting operations. Their sensational arrest will also occupy much attention. The story will no doubt be overdrawn and will be il-drawings of people and scenes con-
